Statement of Ethos and Aims – King's College, Madrid

The purpose of King's College is to provide an excellent education for all our pupils, supporting them in their passage to adulthood by developing character, intellect and physique within a scholarly community in which each individual is cared for and valued equally.

We seek to achieve this by:

- Providing a staff of varied talents, high qualifications and strong commitment who will enable pupils to enjoy education and see it as a life long experience.
- Pursuing an active and open collaboration with parents.
- Encouraging the development in every child of self discipline, good mental health, responsibility, spiritual values and a personal moral code, leading to the highest possible standards of behaviour, consideration for others and a pride in him or herself and the school.
- Encouraging the development of fluency in spoken and written English, intellectual curiosity, an international outlook, creativity and habits of learning, including the preparation of each child for the best possible examination results, through a broadly based, coherent and balanced curriculum.
- Offering a wide range of co-curricular activities through which children can develop their social, sporting and cultural abilities.
- Promoting an understanding of higher education and career possibilities, an awareness of the world beyond the school, and a sense of service to the local and wider community.

While King's College does not have a formal religious affiliation, our ethos is broadly Christian. We welcome children from families of all religious faiths or none equally. Respect for the opinions and beliefs of others is one of our Core Values.
